Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

"Debunker's Informer" a newspaper of a kind, apparently published by persons of EPIC or Epicac sympathies, or even communistic leanings, is sent gratuitously to this desk. A casual perusal of the sheet reveals some things in common with Hearst newspapers, a masterly use of abuse and distortion of facts to suit arguments. Large corporations of California are learning from Nazi Germany, say the editors, that terrorism is the cheapest and most direct method to gain their ends, and for that purpose are pushing ("railroading" is the word used) certain bills through the state legislature "to meet the protest of the downtrodden people." Sometimes as between Hearst and his bombast and fury on the right, and the red flag wavers on the left, hemming in, as it were, the common people of whom Lincoln spoke so approvingly, we do have an uneasy moment. Heartily we wish the legislature would put some kind of a damper on both these fomenters of disorder. The only trouble with this proposal is that an enforced peace is no peace at all, as the Treaty of Versailles has amply demonstrated.

These bills mentioned above, are branded as "in direct violation of the constitution.' Well, suppose they are. There is always a remedy for curing unconstitutional acts. It's a remedy, to be sure, that requires a long slow process to cure, but nevertheless it is there to be used.

The laws delays are leading C. K. McClatchy to "expect" that sooner or later vigilante committees will make a grand clean-up of the criminal element. This leads inevitably to the thought that if those people, who are approving a resumption of vigilante justice in this state, would put some energy into their thinking and doing, they might more easily secure reforms in the present administration of justice, than outlaw law.

An indication of the loose thinking done about the administration of justice is the resolution passed by State Assembly asking Governor Merriam to turn Mooney loose. Four governors and two sittings of the State Supreme Court have found no reason to free Mooney. The propaganda for his release has apparently nothing to do with the justice of his incarceration. The assembly proposal is admittedly one of expediency rather than justice. The wholesale murder that was done on Preparedness Day is too easily forgotten. The cries of the maimed have been hushed by the years. But this writer who was on Market street on that day and saw the trucks go by with their freight of slaughtered on their way to marble slabs in the coroner's mortuary, cannot forget. There was enough unperjured evidence in the Mooney and Billing's trials to prove their guilt, even if District Attorney Fickert proved an unworthy servant of the law.

Expediency which moves a number of state legislators to seek Mooney's freedom, if considered without reference to justice or injustice, would surely fail of any good purpose. Mooney free, stumping the United States, the hero of every red gathering from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, would do incalculably more harm than where he justly belongs, in prison for life.

Among other activities in building for a sound future of California, the State University are the Americanization classes conducted by the extension division. One letter of a Russian expresses gratitude naive but moving.

"In the deepest recesses of my heart I consider it my duty to express to you my hearty gratitude. Wherefor I ask you not to consider it ill of me if I afford my heart some ventilation.

"I would like to express my deepest and sincere thanks for your friendly and benevolent service to us immigrants from the land of terror of the Soviet government in that you make it possible for us to learn the English language. Teacher Rogalsky understands not only to teach us the language, but also to make us acquainted with the laws of our new fatherland.

"For this instruction we have become convinced that no country in the world has done so much and is still doing so much for its people as America. It is as drops of balsam for a terrified soul who experienced the last few years of satanic Soviet paradise.

"Next to God we thank our dear government which received us in such friendly fashion and treats us so well. As loyally devoted citizens-to well. As loyally devoted citizens-to-be we desire to do our share in supporting this land. May God bless you and with you all our governing heads and stand by you."

SPRING HILL IS SOON TO START PRODUCTION

While it has been understood for some time a mill was to be installed at the Spring Hill property as soon as ore bodies had been developed, it was pleasing news that another mine is to go on steady production in the near future in the Nevada City-Grass Valley area.

About the first work to be undertaken will be the straightening of the first 300 feet of the shaft to a 45 degree pitch making the whole shaft the same incline. A hoist is to be installed and ore bins and crusher built in the headframe at the mouth of the shaft. A long belt conveyor will carry ore from this crusher to the mill which will be erected where the present office stands. It is to be a ball mill with flotation system. The first unit contemplated will be of 100 ton daily capacity, the building being built large enough to double the capacity as more ore is developed. When completed it will be a model plant.

D. E. McLaughlin of San Francisc is financing the project, Mr. Lakenan owns the property and Mr. H. R. Plate has been appointed general manager.

About $$200,000 has been spent on the property in the last two years and at times indications for making of a mine were very discouraging, but through the perseverance of Mr. Plate it has developed into one of the important mines of the Grass Valley-Nevada City district.

Construction of the new building has already started and it is expected machinery for the new plant will probably arrive in a month. Installation will be under way by the middle of June. The mill should be on production by September first.

Don Carlos Billick, who has had many years of milling experience gained in Alaska, Western United States and South American countries, is to be mill superintendent. At present he is conducting an assay office in Nevada City.

Mr. Plate, general manager, will spend his time between the Spring Hill and the recently acquired mining property near Sierra City, which is composed of the Young America, Euclid, Phoenix and Mountain claims on Sardine Lake. Work is expected to be resumed on them about June first, starting where the company left off last year when winter storms shut down the property. It will consist of prospecting the ground and diamond drilling. If indications warrant a long tunnel will be driven to tap ore bodies at depth.

Alleghany Ready For Gay Festival Saturday

Arrangements are being made by the Citizen's stage company to run an excursion to Alleghany, leaving Nevada City early in the afternoon and arriving in Alleghany in plenty of time to take in the auto show and evening entertainment and leaving late Saturday night.

Alleghany is celebrating an event that relatively is as great as that San Francisco celebrates annually, it's phoenix like rise from the ashes of a disastrous conflagration. It is also celebrating the New Deal and the new era of prosperity which came to this high mining community as a result of the new price of gold. Historic Sixteen-to-One mine, the Plumbago and a half dozen other big properties are now employing hundreds of men in the extraction of the yellow metal. Hundreds of people from Sacramento, Marysville, Auburn and Nevada county municipalities are making their plans to attend this big show at Alleghany next Saturday.

All arrangements for the Alleghany all day and all night festival next Saturday have practically been completed. Automobile dealers, electrical refrigerator and appliance dealers are making what will probably prove the biggest exhibit of their merchandise ever made in this county.

The event sponsored by the Players Guild of Alleghany comprises the big auto show and electrical appliance show, the vaudeville acts and roaring comedy "Gay" in the community house in the evening, and finally the all night dance with the crack jazzmen from Sacramento providing the music.

One of the features of the early evening will be a Fashion Parade organized by Mrs. Ed Rose of the Rose Fashion Shop of this city. In order to include this and other novel features in the evening's entertainment, it is now proposed to open the Community house program at 7:15 p. m. Saturday night.

P. G. E. CO. TO SPEND $10,000 ON GAS PLANT

Dan Stewart of the Pacific Gas & Electric company announces that another big improvement is to be made in the gas plant of the company. It will be necessary to build an addition to the plant to house the new unit. Stewart state that this step is taken now because of the expected increase in population and consequent increase in demand for gas service. "We are always just one jump ahead of the service demands", declared Stewart.

CONCERT BY CATHEDRAL CHOIR APPRECIATED

A large and very appreciative congregation at Trinity Episcopal church on Sunday evening last were treated to what proved to be one of the finest musical services ever held in Nevada City. The Dean of Christ Cathedral of Sacramento, Rev. W. H. Hermitage preached an eloquent sermon and his choir of sixteen well trained voices gave over an hour's sacred concert. From the opening to the concluding number the congregation was thrilled both by the solo and the ensemble numbers.

Outstanding was the solo work of Mrs. Lillian Hutton, Mrs. Helen Martin and Mr. Franklin Davis.

In short, the many music lovers present speak of this visiting choir as having given an unforgettable performance and many were the wishes expressed that it might be possible at some time in the future to have their visit repeated.

The Cathedral choir drove up in six machines in the afternoon, visited at Lady Jane Manor, went through the Empire mine mill and cyanide plant. Through the courtesy of the local lodge of Elks they were entertained by the vestry at the Elks lodge room.

The organist and choir director of the visiting group is Mr. Emil Martin.

The World's Awry

Now spring is here and sprightly lambs
Are leaping to and fro,
Bright flowers gem the fragrant sod
No matter where we go;
The birds are singing nesting songs,
The hills are softly green,
But grandpa yearns for "good old days,"
And glowers at every scene.

I can't believe the world is lost
When fields are all agleam,
And every charming vista holds
The magic of a dream;
But grandpa says, "it surely is,"
And shakes his silvered head;
Still grieving for the "good old days,"
That now are good and dead.

"I never see girls blush these days,"
Says grandpa with a sigh;
"Why, every girl I knew could blush
When I was young and spry;"
His pert granddaughter grins at him
And impudently says,
"You must have said a mouthful, gramp,"
To make them blush so red."

I sometimes think grandpa is right—
We're going to the dogs;
The poor old world goes lurching on
Through dank and dismal bogs;
I wish that I could set it right;
But what's the use? You see,
The world is filled with denizens
Who are so much like me.

WEEKLY
COMMENT
BY
Christian Andersen

Since the so-called depression we have been deluged with panaceas, and just around the corner prosperity lectures. These ideas for the most part have been fair examples of the crosssection of thinking of our population and for the most part the lecturers have been well paid.

Strange that so few of these ideas have been put to use, if, as their sponsors would have us believe, they were surefire means to rid us of poverty and it's discomforts. To date the only factor which has really helped our unemployed and others in need of help, has been the governmental agencies operating under the almost limitless credit of United States. There are however many cases where pride has forbidden a family to take advantage of any of the relief projects. These families have taken their disappointments and almost unbearable penury on the chin. From them will flow into the channels of human endeavor a new and better spirit which will far surpass past generations. Thus will the world's mentality be raised to higher levels of social justice.

In this column about a year ago the writer favored tax supported musical organizations, such as symphony orchestras, grand opera and the like, now people of our own San Francisco by a big majority voteed to do just that the other day. I predict that many other communities will follow this splendid example.

The United States chamber of commerce put President Roosevelt on the spot in their recent convention in Washington, D. C. They denounced everything and everybody connected with the New Deal. The President answered his critics in his news conference. He defended all of his policies and put American business men on a higher pedestal than he has ever occupied before. The President thinks that the American business man is a pretty fine fellow and generally I agree.

Not much interested in murder trials but the Gosden trial in Oakland had some peculiar angles to it and I ate it up as the saying goes. Now that the man is convicted, I believe justifiably, there will be a motion for a new trial on the grounds that Gosden was and is insane. He may escape the death penalty vit that plea, thereby, becoming a ward of and an expense to his honor the Taxpayer. Twelve jurors convicted him of a heinous crime for personal gain. I am darned if I can see why the taxpayer should be asked to furnish any more than a good stout rope and a six by three piece of real estate for final disposal of the case.

Happenings on a trip to Alleghany Wednesday last. With Tom Arden we got some good pictures of the famous Sixteen to One mine. Wanted a picture of Mr. Bennetts the superintendent, but he wouldn't pose. Took a picture of the town jail built sometime in the seventies. The man who built the jail incidentally was the first to be locked up in it for an infraction of the law. Ray Hawkins had just received from the taxidermist one of his lion skins which he had made into a beautiful rug. Mrs. Mert Foley said she wouldn't pose for a picture "for love nor money."

I stopped in to visit Casey and he showed me some ore from the Boman mine of which he is part owner. At the moment the mine is not in operation owing to a change in machinery which is being made. The mine will be working again next week with three miners. Ore production and milling is about ten tons of payrock per day. Also had the privilege of going through the new Kenton mill, there is no new recovery methods in use in the Kenton but the mill is a paragon of efficiency. The Kenton camp is laid out with care, and an eye to the comfort of the employees.

On the way home we helped a man over one hill by pushing. He had broken the drive shaft on the steep incline out of Blue Ravine. We arrived back in Nevada City about 6 o'clock. It was Tom's first trip. He had much praise for the scenery and of the people he met in and around Alleghany.

Big events of this week in and near Nevada City should bring out the crowds. In Nevada City on Saturday, May 11 the grammar school will have their annual pet show bigger and better than ever. In fact this years affair takes on a sort of a community fair size. Those in charge and those who will participate are drawing on last years experience for their ideas and some new things will be featured too.

Henry Huckins of North San Juan was a visitor in Nevada City today.

Webb Motors sold a 1935 V-8 to Delbert Schiffner on Saturday.

GOOD SERVICE COSTS NO MORE

A modern establishment—a trained, intelligent and courteous personnel — distinctive motor equipment and other evidences of progress and prosperity are NOT an indication that funeral service charges will be high. 'CARNIVAL' AND 'ONE MORE SPRING' AT NEVADA

"Carnival," a Columbia feature will play at the Nevada Theatre tonight and Tuesday. A popular cast with Lee Tracey, Jimmy Durante and Sally Eilers will be seen in the picture. "Carnival" is the glamorous story of the life in drifting carnivals. Laughs and sobs intermingle in a happy combination as the screen's laughmakers play in "Carnival."

Wednesday and Thursday, Warner Baxter and Janet Gaynor will appear in "One More Spring". It is a dramatic modern story, of high adventure and gallant courage. The locale is a large city park during the rigors of winter and the promise of spring. Into this setting drift a motley of strange types, each reduced by circumstances to near destitution. How they solve their difficulties is the theme of "One More Spring."

George Schraders Hold Housewarming

Mr. and Mrs. George Schrader of Park avenue entertained at a housewarming party Saturday evening inviting the executives of the Tahoe National forest for the happy occasion. Three tables of bridge were played with ladies' prize going to Mrs. Leland Smith and gentlemen's prize to Mr. Frank McCasland. Mrs. Goldsmith held low score.

Those present were. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. P. Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Goldsmith, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Lee, Mrs. Leland Smith, and Mr. Walter Carlson, all of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCasland of North Bloomfield.
